Adelaide
- Mount Barker

33 kilometres
Route M1
Princes Hwy
(South Eastern Freeway)

Caution
Only motorised vehicles are permitted on the freeway (no pedestrians, bicycles or animals).

Adelaide
(approximate population 1,295,710)
Located on the banks of the River Torrens, Adelaide is the capital of South Australia. Thanks to the foresight of Surveyor-General Colonel William Light, this well-designed city is blessed with wide roads and expansive park lands. Every year, the festivities and events of 'Mad March' attract thousands of visitors from around the world.

Hahndorf
(approximate population 2,670)
Hahndorf was established in 1839 by 187 German immigrants, who were fleeing persecution at home. Their ship's Danish captain, Dirk Hahn, helped secure 100 acres for the new settlement, which was named in his honour. The main street has a distinctly German feel, and many of the historic buildings have become galleries, restaurants, and food shops selling German pastries and smallgoods. Staying the night? We recommend The Manna by Haus.

Mount Barker
(approximate population 13,840)
Once a quiet farming village, Mount Barker has rapidly developed into a major town, servicing local industry and providing a residential retreat for commuters to Adelaide.

Alternate route
The South Eastern Freeway allows for fast, safe travel, but an alternate route via Mount Barker Road explores the towns of Stirling, Aldgate, Bridgewater and Hahndorf. Quaint antique shops, galleries, restaurants, wineries, and magnificent scenery can be found throughout the Adelaide Hills.

Country traversed
Freeway conditions. Undulating to hilly with some long grades.
Road surface
Bitumen.

Mount Barker - Tailem Bend

65 kilometres
Routes M1 and A1
Princes Hwy
(South Eastern Freeway between Mt Barker and the Swanport Bridge)

Caution
Only motorised vehicles are permitted on the freeway (no pedestrians, bicycles or animals).

Mount Barker
(approximate population 13,840)
Once a quiet farming village, Mount Barker has rapidly developed into a major town, servicing local industry and providing a residential retreat for commuters to Adelaide.

Murray Bridge
(approximate population 16,800)
Murray Bridge was once a river terminal for farm and fish products, and passengers travelling downstream from Morgan. Today, it's the centre of commerce for the surrounding rural areas; the rich river flats supporting dairying, cereal crops and vegetable growing.

Tailem Bend
(approximate population 1,670)
The town's name is thought to come from an Aboriginal word for 'bend', referring to the major change of direction the River Murray takes as it heads towards Lake Alexandrina. Nearby, The Bend Motorsport Park has one of the longest racetracks in the world. Visitors can book a driver or passenger 'hot lap' experience, or take their own cars for a spin on 'open track' days. Just out of town on the Adelaide road, Old Tailem Town has more than 100 buildings from yesteryear, as well as vehicles and other artefacts.

Country traversed
Rolling hills with some long grades east of Mount Barker, levelling out towards Tailem Bend.
Road surface
Bitumen.

Coonalpyn
(approximate population 350)
Once known as the Ninety Mile Desert, the region was converted to productive pastoral land by replacing trace elements and adding liberal top dressings of super-phosphate. Drop into the Heart of the Parks visitor centre for a range of locally made produce, and be sure to check out Guido van Helten's remarkable silo art.

Keith
(approximate population 1,080)
Keith is a major service centre for local farmers, and travellers heading to Melbourne and the Limestone Coast. Just beside the main highway, the 'Land Rover on a pole' monument is testament to the mighty little workhorse that helped convert the region's arid landscape into productive farmland.

Country traversed
Mainly level farmland.

Road surface
Bitumen.

Keith
(approximate population 1,080)
Keith is a major service centre for local farmers, and travellers heading to Melbourne and the Limestone Coast. Just beside the main highway, the 'Land Rover on a pole' monument is testament to the mighty little workhorse that helped convert the region's arid landscape into productive farmland.
Padthaway
(approximate population 320)
This tiny town sits among some of the Limestone Coast's most productive vineyards, thanks to the region's rich terra rossa (meaning red earth in Italian) soil.

Naracoorte
(approximate population 5,070)
Naracoorte is famous for its remarkable limestone caves, 12km south-east of town. Covering an area of about 100 hectares, the caves were discovered in 1849 and declared a National Pleasure Resort in 1917. The resort has since become a national park and is South Australia's only World Heritage-listed site, due to its unique fossil deposits. There are a range of tours available, including adventure caving for the more intrepid travellers. Staying the night? We recommend BIG4 Naracoorte Holiday Park.

Naracoorte - Mount Gambier

100 kilometres
Route A66

Naracoorte
(approximate population 5,070)
Naracoorte is famous for its remarkable limestone caves, 12km south-east of town. Covering an area of about 100 hectares, the caves were discovered in 1849 and declared a National Pleasure Resort in 1917. The resort has since become a national park and is South Australia's only World Heritage-listed site, due to its unique fossil deposits. There are a range of tours available, including adventure caving for the more intrepid travellers. Staying the night? We recommend BIG4 Naracoorte Holiday Park.

Coonawarra
(approximate population 140)
The famous Coonawarra wine region sits atop a thin strip of rich, red terra rossa soil, contributing to the wines' distinctive flavour. Coonawarra Experiences offer a boutique touring service with over 20 cellar doors available to visit.

Penola
(approximate population 1,310)
One of the earliest settlements in the region, Penola has a number of heritage-listed buildings. If you're strolling around town, be sure to take in the quaint 19th century cottages along Petticoat Lane. Staying the night? We recommend Hollick House.

Mount Gambier
(approximate population 26,150)
Surrounded by pine forests, Mount Gambier is one of Australia's major softwood producers. Local attractions include the Blue Lake, which changes colour from grey to brilliant blue each November and back to grey by March, the fairytale-like Umpherston Sinkhole and the dormant volcano, Mt Schank. To the south is the fishing town of Port MacDonnell, a safe harbour sheltering the fleet from the wilds of the Southern Ocean. Staying the night? We recommend Lakes Resort.

Country traversed
Mainly flat terrain. A mixture of farmland, vineyards and pine forests.

Road surface
Bitumen.
